THE PARMER'S SONG.

A Farmer's life in the life for me, I own I love it dearly : And every senson full of gleo, I take its labors cheerly -To plough or mow,

To reap of now . Or in the barn to thrush, sir,-All's one to me, I plainly see,

Twill bring me health and each sir. The lawyer leads a harrass'd life,

Like that of the hunted otter; Between his own and other's strife, He's always in bot water-For foo or friend, A cause detend, However wrong it be, sir,-In remean's spite. Maintain 'tie tight-And dearly earn his fee, sir.

The doctor's styled a gentleman, But this I hold but humming : For, like a tavers waiting man, To every call be's " coming;" Now here, now there, Must be repair. Or starve, sir, by denying ; Like death himself. Unhappy ell, He lives by others dying.

A Farmer's life, then let me live, Obtaining, while I lead it. Enough for sulf, and some to give To such poor souls that need it, 12) drain and fence, Earth's surface.

PETROLEUM:-This great remedy of nature PETROLEUM:—This great remedy of nature after repeated and fair trials, has worked its way into popular favor. We need bardly repeat the fact, that this is a pure, unadulterated Natural Medicine, and is put up as it flows from the bosom of the earth, without admixtures of any kind. In these days of Nostrum vending, we do not wonder at the incredulity evinced by the community, upon the introduction of a new remedy, but that incredulity shall not suppress a medicine, whose powerful influence has mitigated and cured many diseases incidental to our race; were we to withhold a remedy like this from public notice, we should consider ourseives as guilty of keeping back something that was intended to relieve much human suffering, and dispel the gloom and pain of many a one whose system has been racked and tortured by the fell engines of disease. Nay, do not wonder, gentle reader, and ease. Nay, do not wonder, gentle render, and join with others in the cry, that it cures too many diseases; for if you will take the trouble to look over the list of diseases for which it is recommended, you will find that they are diseases at ecting the same kind of tissues, and consequent-y it is applicable to all.

The Petroleum is one of this kind of remedies nd is endued with powers to relieve more human

In Piles, it has also been effectually tried; several cases of which have come under the immediate notice of the Proprietor, in which the Petroleum afforded complete relief. In discasses of the bindder and kidneys the Petroleum is invaluable.

In deafaces depending on the burdening of the wax it will give relief by opening the obstruction and dissolving the wax Which obstructs the passage to the auditory nerve, which is the common cause of dullness of hearing.

Bellefonte, Feb 21, 1850. I got 3 doz. of Mr Kier's Petroleum of Mr Howell and I am disposed to think there is nothing equal to it for burns; having burnt my hand and expecting nothing less than a long tedious sore, but I found no soleness at all from it, only leaving a red scale without any soreness when pressed upon; which quite surprised me. I therefore have great faith in its efficacy so far, at least and will introduce it in this section. Very respectfully,

I had occasion to use it about the lat of January in a violent attack of themmatism, which was very painful, flying about from place, accompanied with much swelling so as to keep me in constant torture. I used the Petroleum externally, a few applications of which removed all pain and every symptom of the disease. I am now matterly ery symptom of the disease.
